The Tipping Services and how they can benefit you

This checklist covers a range everyday and specialist supports we offer. We're also happy to discuss services unique to your individual needs.

Please use this list to identify the types of services you're looking for. Discuss these with your NDIS planner or let us know how we can support you.

We are committed to you and your goals

Coordination of your supports

Assistance with coordinating your services and supports

Knowing what services you want and need is a great start but it can be a little overwhelming on how to coordinate or find all of the relevant services. We can help you connect with the right services and community groups to meet your needs.

Personal care supports

Assistance with daily personal activities

Support with your personal care and hygiene is important. This might include assistance with morning and evening routines, bathing, dressing and toileting, meal prep, house cleaning and managing medication.

Participation in community, social and recreational activities

Become more involved in your community. Support could include help to join a recreation or sports program, find volunteer opportunities and assistance to attend events such as concerts or sports games.

Development of daily living skills

We can help you develop practical living skills and independence, like budgeting, shopping, cooking, washing clothes or job hunting. Support is based around individual needs, preferences and goals.

Assistance with independent travel and transport

We can assist you to develop the skills you need to travel and use public transport independently. We can also help you to get your driver's licence!

Assistance to go on holiday

Travel is a great way to experience new things and participate in the community. Support might include help planning a holiday and assisting you at the destination.

Participation in education, training and employment

Let's put aside disability and concentrate on your ability. We believe it is important for everyone to have the opportunity to participate in education and to find employment. We can assist you at school, university or TAFE and help you to find volunteer or paid employment.

Accommodation

Accommodation assistance

A lot of thought goes into our homes and each has clever features to make your life easier. Some offer easy access for those with mobility issues, whilst others cater for people with autism or intellectual disability.

Where needed, we help with the day-to-day running of the household. Our support staff work with you to make sure your individual needs are being attended to. This might include assistance with daily routines, meal planning and preparation, bathing, toileting and managing medication.

Access to specialist support

Specialised assessment of your needs

If you need specialist support or are looking for help in assessing the right services to meet your needs, our team are experts in their field and happy to help.

Behaviour support

We have a dedicated behaviour support service run by leading psychologists and behaviour support practitioners. This service includes the development of plans, strategies and mentoring to reduce challenging behaviours.

Therapy support

We can provide therapy support in areas such as communication, personal care, mobility and movement to assist you in maintaining your independence.

Assistive technology and mobility aids

Our specialists can assess the aids and medical equipment you need to meet your goals. We can also set up and provide training on how to use the equipment.

Supports unique to you

We are happy to discuss services that are unique to your individual needs and support you to meet your goals. This might include catheter care, peg and tube feeding or shifts requiring several support workers. If you don't see something listed here, let us know what we can do to support you.
